What is a mobile phone base station?

A mobile phone base station is a telecommunications infrastructure used to send and receive RF signals from mobile phones. The frequencies used typically range from 900 MHz to 2.45 GHz, with powers varying from 1 W for indoor antennas to 40 W for those at high elevations.

Which battery is best for telecom base station backup power?

Among various battery technologies, Lithium Iron Phosphate (LiFePO<sub>4</sub>) batteries stand out as the ideal choice for telecom base station backup power due to their high safety, long lifespan, and excellent thermal stability.

What makes a telecom battery pack compatible with a base station?

Compatibility and Installation Voltage Compatibility: 48V is the standard voltage for telecom base stations, so the battery pack's output voltage must align with base station equipment requirements. Modular Design: A modular structure simplifies installation, maintenance, and scalability.

Why is backup power important in a 5G base station?

With the rapid expansion of 5G networks and the continuous upgrade of global communication infrastructure, the reliability and stability of telecom base stations have become critical. As the core nodes of communication networks, the performance of a base station's backup power system directly impacts network continuity and service quality.
