Overview

What is a containerized energy storage solution?

A containerized energy storage solution makes it easier to ship and transport the storage system to the last mile without much hassle.

Why is Finnish Minerals Group a responsible battery value chain?

Finnish Minerals Group is developing a responsible battery value chain in Finland. At the same time, we contribute to supporting the European Green Deal, according to which Europe aims to achieve climate neutrality by 2050. European battery cell capacity by 2030 is estimated to be sufficient for approximately 15 million electric cars per year.

How much battery capacity will Europe have by 2030?

According to market research, the European battery cell capacity by 2030 will be approximately 1,000 GWh annually. European cell capacity by 2030 will require annual production of approximately 1,600 kt of cathode active material (CAM).
