What is an RV circuit breaker?

RV circuit breakers help keep your electrical system safe and operational. When too much electricity flows through your RV's electrical system, it is the job of the circuit breaker to stop the flow of that electricity. This may seem frustrating when it happens, but it saves you from melted wires, fire damage, and more.

What is the cost to buy a new RV circuit breaker?

A new RV circuit breaker costs around $10-$15 depending on its type and current rating. Modern RVs come equipped with outlets to provide power outside the vehicle to run any appliance. However, it can trip if an appliance draws more power than the breaker's ratings.

What are the different types of circuit breakers?

There are three types of circuit breakers: standard, GFCI and AFCI. Each of these types handles the electricity differently and operates in different locations. Standard circuit breakers monitor the flow of electricity and break the flow of electricity when it becomes too high. They are either single- or double-pole.

How many amps can a breaker handle?

They protect one wire and supply 120V to a circuit. They can handle 15-30 amps, depending on the size of breaker, and are available in three sizes (full size, which is 1" wide, half size, which is 1/2" wide, and twin, which is 1" wide with two switches and controls two circuits).
